 SWISS QUALITY SINCE 1834

Swibo

Those at the top of their professions calculate cost of ownership over the life of the product and gravitate to products which might have high initial costs but actually become less expensive based on longevity, efficiency and versatility when compared to products that might have lower initial costs. Wenger's SWIBO® line of professional cutlery is built on these principals and manufactured to exacting standards using the best materials available, and employing techniques which continue to set the industry standard.

Mora + Dexter Russell

Mora

Mora knives are solid, substantial, and feel comfortable in the hand when you use them making them suitable for the meat processing industry. The ergonomic design reduces the most common risks of injuries, such as repetitive strain injury and accidental cutting. The knives can be sharpened to extreme sharpness with high edge retention. The high quantity stainless steel range is extensive, allowing the choice of a personal favourite depending on shape, size or other requirements.
